

INHERITANCE

Zoo Model

Abokumah Welbeck

Seth Fiawoo

Yonni Quartey

Kofi Afrifa

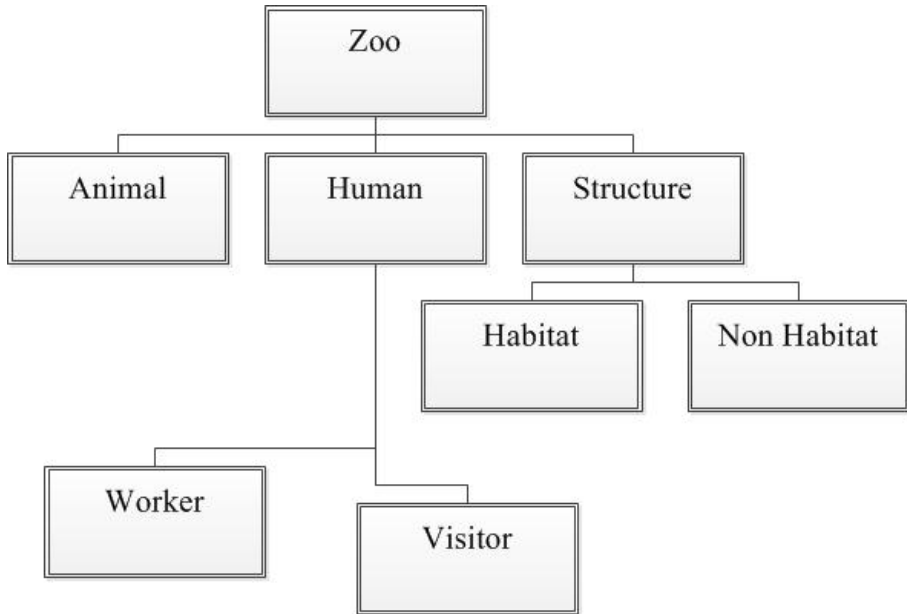

Kwabena Ansah

MIT-AITI

June 29, 2012

The main components of a zoo are the animals, humans and building structures.

Considering the attributes of a zoo, we chose the classes; humans, animals, and structures to inherit directly from the zoo class because, these are the basic groups of entities found in a zoo.

Name: Location:

Working hours:

Present Population:

List of Structures:

Dictionary of Animals: animal name: quantity

Animal Capacity:

Human Capacity:

Methods: getPresentPopulation:
getListofStructures:
getListofAnimals:
getHumanCapacity:
updatePopulation:
updateAnimalList:

Class Animal: This is a class of animals found in a zoo at a particular point in time.

Attributes:

Name

PetName

Age

BirthPlace

IDTag

Methods(): getName()
getPetName getAge
getBirthPlace getID transferAnimal acquireAnimal

Class Humans

This class describes the people who are found in a zoo at any point in time.

Attributes:

Name:

Gender:

Age:

Nationality:

Methods

getName

getAge

getGender

getNationality

Class Workers

Attributes:

SSN

Shift

Salary

JobType

Methods

getSSN

printWorkerDetails

Class Structures

This is a class that describes the various structures found in a zoo:
buildings and animal habitats

Attributes:

Location

Type

Methods

getStructDetails